Dear Lynn,

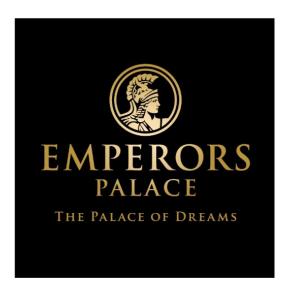

I on behalf of Touch Points and RIT Dubai would like to thank you for the "powerful and effective" keynote session you delivered on Customer Experience, both at Gulf Host and Happiness Talks. Your delivery style was inspirational and we have received excellent feedback on the structured content you delivered. The examples referred to were spot on and the journey mapping you introduced is what people left talking about. Great job! I also appreciate your flexibility and we all thoroughly enjoyed working with you during the planning stage! Thank you once again and we are lining up lots of opportunities for you in Dubai

Lynn Baker was a keynote speaker during Nedbank's annual celebration of International Customer Service Day (04 October 2017), as well as one of Nedbank's Quarterly Client Experience Round Table sessions (August 2017).

"Nedbank Insurance recently invited Lynn to address the top Management team at a strategy session. The brief was very extensive; we wanted as much insight as possible into the world of Customer Experience and we needed to understand who is getting it right both internationally and locally, across multiple industries. We were particularly interested to know what insurance companies are doing in response to everchanging consumer needs and what we could do to become world class providers of Customer Experience.

Lynn grabbed the opportunity and clearly landed the CX message we needed to hear. We were very grateful for the research she had done into our industry and the insights shared. Lynn's presentation was on point and culminated in much debate and food for thought for the duration of our strategy session".

NEDBANK INSURANCE MANAGEMENT STRATEGY

Lynn, the feedback from your 'Customer Experience – The Key to Competitive Differentiation' presentation at the XL Travel Conference recently has been incredible and there are very many management delegates still waxing lyrical about your session.

Not many Speakers in this world, if any, can say they were interrupted by a high profile figure like Pravin Gordhan and still came back to get gushing compliments regarding their address.

Thank you for your understanding around the Ministers arrival and for accommodating him so graciously....I believe it was the best way to tackle it and we achieved the best outcome possible.

NIGEL KING

Strategic Development Manager – XL Travel Head Office October 2017

Everybody enjoyed Lynn's 'Customer Experience' presentation and found it engaging;

to the point that some delegates remarked that they lost track of time.

The topic was timely and the material presented was spot on. Thank you for a memorable presentation!
